Restaurants should submit Thanksgiving plans

It's time for restaurants planning special menus, buffets or takeout for Thanksgiving day to email their information to scott.cherry@tulsaworld.com.

The information should include hours of operation, a few details about the menu or buffet and prices. We also are gathering information on restaurants offering free dinners.

Information received by next Monday is scheduled to be published in the Nov. 4 Weekend section.

Restaurants slate Halloween activities

A few restaurants have submitted plans for Halloween on Saturday.

In the Raw Broken Arrow, 216 S. Main St., has scheduled a Halloween party that includes live music, cash giveaways, cash bar, limited menu and costume contest. Tickets are $50 per person and include one free drink ticket and some food items. For tickets, go to facebook.com/intherawba and choose the "ticket" tab. The event runs 8-11 p.m.

Warrior Stop Grill & Backyard Catering, 2303 W. 41st St., is hosting a neighborhood Halloween party that includes entertainment, a 3-pound Warrior Burger challenge, 75-cent hot dogs, $2 quarter-pound burgers, candy and costume contests for scariest, funniest and most realistic. The event begins at 6 p.m.

Bonefish Grill, 4651 W. Kenosha St., Broken Arrow, is offering a Hooked on Halloween menu that includes three courses — salad, entree and dessert — starting at $14.90. Some entree choices include Atlantic salmon, spicy tuna bowl, Ahi tuna steak, lobster tail and fontina pork chop.

Fleming's Prime Steakhouse, 1975 Utica Square, has scheduled An Evening of Espionage, a 007-themed costume event, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Guests are encouraged to come dressed as their favorite James Bond character. The event will include props for selfies and group photos. The evening includes a three-course sit-down dinner and special 007-themed cocktails. Cost is $95 per person, plus tax and gratuity. Reservations: 918-712-7500.
